TWO-WEEK SOFT COAL SHUTDOWN ON MONDAY

South's Senators See Possible Win In Filibuster Row

WASHINGTON, March 12—(AP)—Triumphant southern senators saw visions of victory in their civil rights fight today after defeating the administration's all-out attempt to choke off the filibuster.

As the talkathon entered its twelfth day, senate leaders faced a tough decision:

Should the administration continue the fight and try to outlast the Dixie lawmakers, or should it concede defeat, and the filibuster as gracefully as possible, and get on with other business?

Last night's bipartisan vote on Vice President Barkley's decision that two-thirds of the members could gag debate on a motion knocked out of the administration's hands its main weapon against the filibuster.

Also, it cast a dark shadow over President Truman's civil rights program. If the southerners retain their right to unlimited debate, they plan to filibuster each of the civil rights bills when they come up.

The administration had hoped to take this minority weapon away from them by changing senate rules so two-thirds of senators voting could gag debate on any subject at any time.

Might Be Called Off
Democratic National Chairman Sen. McGrath (D-RI) conceded that the filibuster fight might have to be called off to allow the senate to act on other important measures piling up waiting for action. They include rent control, which expires March 31; Taft-Hartley act repeal; a bill to continue European Recovery program for another year, and others.

Rent control was of prime importance. There is so little time left.

House leaders, however, predicted sure passage of a 15-month control extension after snatching it from the very brink of defeat. Late yesterday administration chiefs by a slim 178 to 163 vote beat down a Republican attempt to limit controls to only 90 days.

A final house vote was delayed until Tuesday, and a rent bill still must be taken up by the senate, jammed by the filibuster.

The senate labor committee met to hear testimony on a proposed outback in veterans hospital construction. It already has approved the President's labor program — repeal of the Taft-Hartley act and replace it with a modified Wagner act — and the house labor committee continued its hearings on the labor battle today.

$7,598 SECURED FOR RED CROSS

Optimistic over the success of the Red Cross fund drive thus far, Salem chapter officials pressed on today in efforts to reach the quota of $15,720.

Campaign Chairman T. Emerson Smith today reported $7,598 obtained to date, a figure that is better than the amount subscribed at this time last year.

Reports from outlying districts which are included in the Salem Red Cross zone are expected the first of the week, thereby boosting the total.

A film, "Red Cross News Reel" is now being shown at meetings throughout the area and is still available for scheduling as some dates are not filled. It runs 11 minutes and covers the Texas City aftermath, Vet Amputees swim course, launching a blood program and college activities at U. C. L. A.

Almost 200 Salem Boy Scouts and Cubs will knock nine times on 100 Salem doors at exactly 8 p. m. Monday. Three dots, three dashes and three dots the universal S. O. S. will be tapped to call local citizens to a program: "Strengthen the Arm of Liberty." The affair is to be held at the Memorial building at 7:30 p. m.

Boy Scouts Will Launch Crusade Program Monday

The Crusade to Strengthen the Arm of Liberty, to be observed locally, is a national two-year program of the Boy Scouts of America, in celebration of the 40th anniversary of the movement.

This Crusade was launched nationally at ceremonies in Washington, Los Angeles and at the Statue of Liberty on the closing day of Scout Week in February.

A pageant effect will be given the Salem program as uniformed Scouts and Cubs will typify the spirit of the Statue of Liberty at one point in the program. The Quaker City band will provide martial music.

Seated on the stage will be veterans in uniform representing the Army, Navy, Air Corps and Marine service branches; Rev. J. Richard Gaffney, pastor of St. Paul's church; Rev. Harold L. Ogden, new minister at the First Presbyterian church; Mayor R. R. Johnson, John Hartwell, county Scout executive, and Joe Kelly, master of ceremonies.

Salem troop flags and American flags will be displayed. The pledge to the flag will get the program underway, to be followed by the invocation by Rev. Gaffney.

Band to Play
The Quaker City band, whose members will form in the lobby of the Memorial building shortly before 7:30 and march into the gym, will then present selections.

Mayor Johnson will extend a well-welcome to a presentation of special seals and pins of the Crusade to Strengthen the Arm of Liberty to Scout and Cub leaders by Hartwell.

The boys will give their pledges to the Crusade—first the Cubs and then the older boys.

Rev. Ogden is to give the keynote talk of the evening. He will speak on Americanism; the Statue of Liberty, symbol of a heritage of freedom and the Scout movement. The title is, "Patriots, Not Partisans."

A Quaker City band selection is next on the program.

In an impressive torch-lighting ceremony, the uniformed veterans will start the lighting which will spread to all Scout and Cub units.

Rev. Gaffney will pronounce the benediction and the band will conclude with the National anthem.

Program Chairman
A R. R. Johnson, district chairman of camping and activities, is general chairman of the program.

Purpose of the Program
The purpose of the program is to strengthen the arm of liberty.

Thieves of Sleep

Mildred E. Gillars, whose wartime broadcasts as "Axis Sally" were intended to trouble the minds of United States troops, doesn't understand how the jurors who found her guilty of treason will be able to sleep.

That was what a great many people couldn't understand about Miss Gillars during the war—how she could broadcast the propaganda of Hitlerism and still sleep. Even though her efforts fell short of the mark, which was to undermine the morale of U. S. fighting men, she didn't know that at the time. She did the best she could to be a thief of sleep.

Miss Gillars apparently slept all right in spite of that. It's doubtful if the jurors who found her guilty of treason will lose any sleep over punishing her for it. Quite the contrary, some of them should sleep a good deal better from now on. They will have the satisfaction of knowing that expediency, no matter how dictated or to what purpose, still has not been condoned as a proper guide for human behavior. There are too many human beings at large who will do anything to save their own skins, in both international and domestic politics, in both wartime and peacetime. It's reassuring to know they can't always get away with it.

How To Let Go of A Bear

Federal rent control has become the perfect example of holding a bear by the tail.

If congress holds on too long, it will be battered to pieces by the bear's efforts to get loose.

If congress lets go too soon, it will be kicked and cuffed to a far-thee-well by the inevitable reaction from an explosive situation.

In the 80th congress, the dilemma was tackled after a fashion by letting go of the bear just a little bit. The reaction scared the daylight out of some congressmen.

They proposed to the 81st congress, therefore, that the dilemma be tackled by getting a tighter grip. And that threat immediately caused the bear to redouble its efforts to get loose.

Eventually, unless congress wants to tangle with the rent-control bear ad infinitum, it will have to let go. That will take courage. There will be consequences as far-reaching and violent as those which ensued when other price controls were abandoned. But if those controls hadn't been abandoned when they were, congressmen would have scars to show from that experiment in bear-holding too. Many of them won't admit it, but they wish now they had let go of rent controls at the same time.

Hanging By A Technicality

Not all congressmen by any means understand the technical issue on which the United States senate may wish to gag-rule. Or if one believes that gag-rule is too strong a phrase and the object is only to limit debate, the fact still remains that only parliamentarians are equipped to follow the devious means being employed to outlaw senatorial filibusters.

This is a chilly reminder that great decisions in parliamentary government always are cloaked in obscurity, as far as the ordinary run of citizens are concerned. Governments survive and fall on technicalities. Destinies are made and broken by seemingly casual votes to take up or put aside motions. Legislators are like swordsmen thrusting, feinting and parrying under the meticulous rules of fencing—but doing all this for a lethal objective.

The entire filibuster issue in the senate has been couched in rules, motions, rulings and precedents. These things conceal what the real issue is. It is whether or not Harry Truman's bloc in the federal government shall have the right to ride down all opposition in the United States senate.

Just A Passing Thought

Nothing is more likely to win followers than a theory. Especially if the theory takes root in the mind of persons peeved because of friction with realities which the theory is supposed to bring under their personal control.

Thus, the United States is being pestered to adopt the Anglo-European theory of socialized health care by persons who insist it would be the answer to everything. But the fact is that where the theory has been tested it hasn't been the answer to anything.

The United States is urged to take up old-world theories of political and economic organization, despite the fact that every European nation which has tested them has wound up in political and economic bankruptcy. There are even theorists who want Americans to adopt the theory of Marxism under the illusion that Russia has adopted it—an innocent conception that brings guffaws of rude laughter in the Kremlin. But that's beside the point.

Why shouldn't every American who wants the United States to adopt a theory that has been tested or is being tested in the old world be sent to the place where experience has been the best teacher and permitted to study the results first-hand? This would cost a large amount of money. But the cost could be charged to the Marshall plan. And it would be infinitely cheaper than testing every half-baked theory produced by a dying European civilization in the new world at the new world's expense.

The Stars Say

For Sunday, March 13

By GENEVIEVE REMBLE

SUNDAY'S horoscope hold augury of a false move, bad judgment, inertia or other interference disastrously blocking the wheels of progress, already well-established on most promising foundations.

Either lack of energy, nervous tension or other static or crystallizing situation could undermine cherished plans. A blundering mind, or obscure reasoning, could be the detrimental influence to upset or permanently thwart desired hopes and wishes. Postpone vital decisions, until the way seems clearer.

For the Birthday

Those whose birthday it is, may be called upon to make important decisions, in which vital issues are at stake. There may be obstacles to be astutely handled, and yet the mentality may be slow, nerves taut or the physical conditions not quite up to the desired mark for clever manipulation.

There may be a stubborn development to arrest easy going of plans well on the way. It might be advisable to take a period of rest, relaxation or diversion, so that time may assist in unravelling difficulties. Meantime summon health and marshal all assets and resources tangible as well as mental or spiritual.

A child born on this day, may be handicapped by a feeble or static state of mind and energies. Attention to a physical lack may foster sound and workable mental equipment and initiative.

For Monday, March 14

MONDAY'S astrological forecast indicates that while the ambitions, aspirations and plans seem to encourage an expansive and far-reaching development—of scope and magnitude, yet it may be difficult to sidestep blocks, impediments, wrong tactics and limited resources.

There may be either definite opposition all along the line, or there may be pressures and tensions difficult to whip into constructive channels. Higher-ups may be lagged on coming across with need of capital or influence. Personal relations may explode in some unforeseen manner. But in all crises, refrain from forced issues or "fly-off-the-handle" procedures. Safeguard all resources, possessions and contacts.

If It Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is, may find themselves in a period of frustration, delay, restriction right in the midst of high promise and hopeful foundations for an expansive, growing and gratifying culmination to well-laid plans with firm foundations for solidarity and long-term prosperity and pleasure.

Lack of cooperation, promised support from influential sources, together with failure from ultimate or family relationships or other close, perhaps romantic understandings is indicated. In all circumstances, let calm judgment and wise action prevail as each or exciting conduct could spell utter defeat and regret.

A child born on this day while ambitious, aspiring and well-equipped for a measure of success and happiness, may make rash moves to undermine its prospects.

GUARDING YOUR HEALTH

Dentists Often Detect Mouth Cancer

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M. D.

The dentist has a greater opportunity than the physician to discover cancers in the mouth and on the face at a time when they can be removed by operation, because the dentist sees these patients with early cancer before it may cause symptoms.

Hence, he can do much in locating cancers in these areas.

Statistics at a large hospital reveal that three out of five patients with cancer of the gums consulted the dentist about other matters affecting their teeth before they consulted their physician. In a recent series of 137 cases of cancer of the mouth, more than one-third were recognized by dentists.

General Health

Many disorders affecting the general health cause disturbances in the mouth and these disturbances may be the first sign of some serious complication which, if recognized in time, may save the patient's life. The dentists are aware that their work involves more than examining the teeth and repairing them. In making an inspection of the mouth at each periodic visit, they are able to discover signs of many disorders which can be brought to the physician's attention.

It is well known that if cancers of the head and neck are treated when the affected area is less than one inch in diameter, more than half the conditions can be cured.

Any ulcer or sore in the mouth which does not respond to treatment in two weeks should be considered a cancer until it is proved otherwise. Any growth or swelling which continues to get worse or shows no tendency to get well within a month should likewise be considered a cancer until it is proven to be something else. There should be no period of "watchful waiting" with a growth in the mouth, especially treatment of cancer is an emergency.

The modern dentist carries out a complete examination of the mouth of every patient. During such an examination he can recognize cancer of the lip which is the most frequent of all mouth cancers. Thus the dentist aids greatly in recognizing disorders which cause symptoms in and around the mouth.

Youngstown Chief Raps Parole Setup

YOUNGSTOWN, March 12—(AP)—“A loose system of justice takes the handcuffs off crime and puts them on law enforcement officials,” Police Chief Edward J. Allen said today as he rapped the probation and parole granted two Youngstown B. & O. train bandits, Luman Ramsdell and George L. Ashton. They were captured in Washington, D. C., yesterday.

Stating he was not opposed to the underlying reason for parole, Allen said the “abuse of the parole system which seems prevalent today is a major factor in law enforcement's inability to reduce crime.

“Both of these young criminals had backgrounds of felonious crimes, particularly the case of the wounded criminal (Ramsdell), showing a pattern of suspended sentences and broken probation and parole.”

“Society,” Allen declared, “has a right to expect that these incorrigibles be properly punished for their vicious crimes, the latest of which was an attempt to shoot a police officer to escape arrest.

“But when their continued guilty pleas result in suspension of fines and sentences, they are again loosed upon the public to continue their criminal careers.”

The chief expressed regret that “we have had these men in our custody on several occasions but every time they had been set free.”

Celebrating the 38th year of its organization, Salem chapter, Order of the Eastern Star, gave a colorful dinner party Friday evening in the Masonic temple. Mrs. Gale Dougherty, worthy matron, presided.

Mrs. Carrie B. Turner, 81, the first worthy matron, and Mrs. C. B. Hunt, who succeeded her as second worthy matron, were among the 250 in attendance.

The first worthy matron "mothered" the chapter in the first two years of its beginning, 1911-12, and during that period initiated 72 members.

Appointed at the grand chapter meeting in October, 1915, Mrs. Turner also served as deputy grand matron of the 13th district, of which Salem chapter is a part.

Music Program Of St. Agnes Guild Enjoyed

The story from the book, "Woman and Music" (Sophie Drinker), was delightfully illustrated with a musical theme Wednesday afternoon when the St. Agnes guild of the Church of Our Saviour presented this unique benefit review in the library assembly room.

Women's contribution and struggle in the world of music from the primitive to modern times was told in this artistic symposium by Mrs. Anthony Weina.

The music accompanying the word picture by Mrs. Weina was sung by Mrs. Arthur Engler, contralto, and played by Mrs. Eric Silver and Mrs. Walter Hunston, pianists.

Mrs. Engler's vocal numbers included "Kashmiri Song" and "Less Than the Dust" from the song cycle of Indian love lyrics; "Lord Is My Light" and "Dear It Is Nothing." Mrs. Hunston accompanied her.

For her piano solos Mrs. Silver played "Clair de Lune," "Harp Etude" and "Hungarian Rhapsody."

An effective candle-lighting ceremony and the singing of "In the Gloaming" by the entire audience concluded the unusual program.

Mrs. James Carpenter, guild president, was in charge of the successful affair.

Blue iris and yellow accents in a silver bowl and white tapers in silver candelabra made the refreshment table lovely. Mrs. Harry Barrett and Miss Helen Deming presided at the silver tea service.

Capt. Robert Beck of McChord field, Tacoma, Wash., has concluded a few days' visit with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lorin Beck, N. Ellsworth ave.

'We, The Women'

by RUTH MILLETT

By RUTH MILLETT
Even though you hear them often, aren't these rather dubious compliments:

"I've never heard her speak an unkind word about anyone." Maybe that means she's afraid to speak her mind.

"She sacrificed everything for her children and they don't show her any consideration at all." All that means is that as a mother she is a complete failure.

"Her house is so clean you could eat off the floor." What's so good about that, if they've got a dining room table?

"She gave him the best years of her life." Well, she had to do something with them.

"She'd make some man an awfully good wife." How come no man ever figured that out?

EXCITING TOO

"She's as comfortable as an old shoe." And the woman that description fits is usually just about as exciting as an old shoe, too.

"She looks like her daughter's sister." Then she ought to be spending more on her daughter's looks and less on her own.

"She means well." What good does that do anybody?

"She hasn't changed a bit." Shouldn't the years improve us? The person who hasn't changed a bit has only been making time.

"She certainly knows how to manage her husband." Another way of saying a man is hen-pecked.

Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Cope have moved from N. Howard ave. to E. Eighth st.

Canton South Overpowers Salem Quakers In Tourney 46-32

Winners Display Too Much Class For Millermen; Tom Miner Leads Salem With 15

BY BOB DIXON

They rang down the curtain on the Salem High 1948-49 basketball season Friday night at South fieldhouse.

The Quakers suffered their first and only tournament loss of the season and lost it to a very good Canton South five by a 46-32 score before 2,268 fans.

In dropping the decision, Salem had nothing to be ashamed of. The Red Ash-coached outfit definitely showed that it fully deserves the seeded rating given it in the tourney. They stand a very good chance of duplicating their 1948 record and gaining the state finals. It was certainly no disgrace for Salem to lose to such a club.

The result had been seen by most Salem fans before the game started. The victories over East Palestine and Lisbon were more than had been expected and almost all the Quaker following were satisfied.

In the Canton South club, Salem ran into simply too much class. The Red Ash outfit had plenty of it and there was little reason to hope for a Salem win.

The game was, however, less than a rout. Two reasons for that were (a) Ash did not use his high scorer and ace pivotman, Bud Harbold, and (b) the South team loomed atrociously most of the last half.

Harbold, suffering from torn tendons in the front of his left ankle, was given a night's rest, in anticipation of tougher games that are coming up. His presence in the lineup would probably have meant a difference of at least 10 more points.

The South cagers had things all sewed up by halftime and none of Ash's protests could snap them out of that feeling. They "dogged it" badly in the final quarter, netting only one basket.

For Salem it was a case of going all out and getting nowhere. The Red and Black kids fought hard, but couldn't cope with the speed and skill of Garrett & Co. They broke on top with a slight 1-0 edge, but South moved out then and gained eight points before Salem tallied again.

South had a 15-5 lead at the quarter, slipped to 24-15 at halftime but rolled up 13 in the third for a 37-24 edge. Then they quit and coasted in.

Tom Miner closed out his scholastic career in brilliant style, caging six field goals and a trio of fouls for 15 points. He battled fiercely throughout the game and when he fouled out at 5:30 in the fourth period he was accorded a rousing hand by the Salem fans.

The rest of the lineup excepting Jim Callahan, who played the whole game, was changed several times in the tilt. In all, 12 Quaker players saw action. Most surprising hung up 14 of 21 free throws and Salem canned six of 12.

Although the locals were obviously outclassed, they went down fighting—something that can be said for their every effort this season.

The squad's advance to the third round of the tourney was far more than had been expected of them and gave them the best of Salem tournament record in the past three years.

In losing, they dropped their game to the best team in the district.

Game Notes: South's tight man-to-man defense limited Salem to two shots at the hoop in the first four minutes of the game. The Quakers lost the ball several times during that period on poor passing and ball handling, too.

Callahan continued to play an aggressive game under the basket and his passwork drew raves from several who had never seen Salem play before.

When South beats Struthers tonight, and it's almost as sure as taxes, it will mark the third consecutive year the team has gained the regionals. Two years ago they were knocked off by East Liverpool at New Concord.

Salem fans, optimistic to the end, are already gleefully anticipating next season when Miller's Sophomores will have grown a few more inches.

Nervous Red Ash, who goes crazy during a game, was almost calm last night. He got a little excited late in the game when his team went to sleep, however.

When complimented on the improvement in his center Harbold this year, he said "If I got paid overtime for the hours I spent on him, I'd be a millionaire."

Ash has a good setup at South, has been there eight years as football and basketball coach, and draws down $4,000 per year.

Jack Mills, Lisbon mentor, watched the Salem tilt with no little satisfaction.

He didn't go to school in Lisbon Thursday or Friday, it was rumored.

BEARDEN PITCHES AGAINST GIANTS IN TODAY'S TRY

Rookies Sprinkle Tribe's Lineup Today; Wynn Impresses Umpire

TUCSON, Ariz., March 12—(AP)—Gene Bearden, the World Champion Cleveland Indians' ace left hander, goes to the hill today as the Tribe opens its 36-game exhibition schedule against the New York Giants.

Opposing Bearden will be Right-hander Larry Jansen, bellwether of the Giants staff for the past three seasons.

Including in an announced starting lineup for the Tribe are three rookies. Herman Reich, 17, will bat sixth followed by Shortstop Ray Boone, and Catcher Ray Murray.

Among the veterans in the lineup will be Leadoff Man Dale Mitchell, 17, Hal Peck, 17, Darryl Doby, 17, Joe Gordon, 26, and Kenny Keltner, 30. Mike Garcia and Sam Zolad are scheduled to see action on the mound in support of Bearden.

Manager Leo Durocher of the Giants previously said his lineup, with the exception of rookie Second Baseman Bob Hofman and Newcomer Bill Jennings at shortstop, would be composed of veterans.

An additional vote of optimism about Tribe pitching was sounded yesterday by Umpire Charley Berry, former major league catcher.

Berry, who worked behind the plate during two intra-squad games, said Early Wynn, former Senator, looked vastly improved over last year.

"He threw only two bad pitches in the four innings he worked and looked pretty quick," Berry said.

The progress of First Baseman Mickey Vernon, slowly recuperating from an appendicitis operation, was brought cheer to the Indian camp.

Vernon took his first strenuous workout around first base and looked smooth and quick in taking throws from Kenny Keltner and Joe Gordon.

Howell Sees Classy Teams In State's A & B Regionals

BY FRITZ HOWELL

COLUMBUS, March 12—One of the classiest fields in history is headed into Ohio's high school regional basketball tournaments.

Finals in the district meetings will be completed tonight, sending 16 Class A and 16 Class B squads into regional play, from which four in each division will emerge for the state finals here March 24, 25 and 26.

Six Class A teams, and four in Class B, already have earned regional positions in early closing play.

CINCINNATI GETS INTO BOXING ROW OVER NEW CHAMP

CINCINNATI, March 12—(AP)—The Cincinnati boxing commission has entered the heavyweight championship scramble with a protest to none other than National Boxing association Commissioner Abe Greene for his recognition of the forthcoming Ezzard Charles-Joe Walcott fight at a title bout.

The commission yesterday instructed Secretary George Murphy to send the protest to Flamen Adae, NBA president, with a copy to Greene.

A new champion, to succeed recently-retired Joe Louis, could be determined only through a series of elimination bouts, the commission said.

It's action came after Sam Becker, local fight promoter, proposed that the winner of a proposed bout here between Joe Maxim of Cleveland and Lee Savold of Patterson, N. J., be recognized as champion.

The commission told Becker it was in no position to give such recognition but agreed to consider the bout an elimination contest for the championship, provided it was held here and prior to the Charles-Walcott scrap.

Charles, a Cincinnati, recently won a 15-round, split decision over Maxim at the Cincinnati garden.

When informed of the Cincinnati group's protest, Greene told newsmen at New York he was "sorry" that the gentlemen from the Cincinnati commission have adopted such an attitude.

He said that in a telephone conversation Becker had asked him to help bring the Charles-Walcott fight to Cincinnati.
